

ARCHIVES AND HISTORIC COLLECTIONS DEPARTMENT

LOANS POLICY

1. Aim

Hatfield House Archives and Historic Collections Department seeks to document and preserve all of the collections at Hatfield House and other houses owned by the Cecil family. We will actively collect archival material, in all formats, originating from and relating to members of the Cecil family and their estates and businesses, to preserve these records and to make them available to the family, staff and members of the public, where it is thought appropriate. Books and objects are acquired at the initiative of the family. The department then manages the documentation and care of these items, on behalf of the family.

2. Policy

2.1 Purpose and scope

The archives and historic collections at Hatfield House and other houses owned by the Cecil family are part of a private collection and any loans are at the discretion of Lord Salisbury and the trustees. However, the department recognises the importance of the collections at Hatfield and the contribution that lending items from the collection can make towards furthering knowledge of the objects in our care and their contribution to wider history. The purpose of this policy is to set out the key principles that govern lending of such items, once the loan has been agreed by Lord Salisbury.

This policy applies to all requests for loans from the Hatfield collection, including archives, books, works of art, furniture and other historic objects..

2.2 Use of the policy

This policy is part of a series of policies that state the principles governing the management and care of the Hatfield House Archives and historic collections. These policies, along with strategic documents, plans and procedures provide a framework for decision making, planning and prioritising as well as for managing the day to day activities of the Archives and Historic Collections Department.

The policy will ensure that loans are managed according to agreed criteria and standards. It should be used by professional staff in the archives when administering loan requests. It will be supplied to institutions that request to borrow loans from the collection prior to any formal agreement. Preservation of items in the collection is the key priority when agreeing to a loan and this policy should be used in conjunction with the department's preservation policies in order to ensure that the preservation requirements of the item are met at all times.
